

Dear Colleagues:

You're invited to join the Digital Frontiers Community as a sponsor!

The 2018 conference theme is "Finding Community in Digital Humanities." The Digital Frontiers community joins forces with the Digital Humanities Forum held annually at University of Kansas's Institute for Digital Research in the Humanities (IDRH). These two dynamic communities unite to celebrate digital scholarship as a diverse and growing field of humanist inquiry. DF2018 promises bring together a broad range of constituents who create or use digital collections or tools for humanities work, including scholars, educators, genealogists, archivists, technologists, librarians, and students.

Past conferences at the University of Texas at Dallas and Rice University featured presenters from 11 U.S. states and 3 countries. We anticipate continued growth in participation as submissions are up 20% this year.

Joining the Digital Frontiers community will help your organization:

- Promote your organization as a leading supporter of digital scholarship inquiry and practice
- Strengthen your brand profile
- Provide direct access to and contact with an international community of digital humanities and digital libraries scholars and professionals
- Develop high level, long term contacts with leading figures and decision makers
- Strengthen existing relationships

The sponsorship package at $1,000 U.S. dollars includes the following benefits:

- Up to 4 registrations for organization representatives
- A merchandise and networking table at the event
- Company logo on the conference website with link to company's website, promotional materials, and on the printed program
- Logo placement on slides displayed during conference breaks and meals
- Option to provide a brief promotional video message to be displayed during conference breaks
- One printed brochure or other collateral material in attendee package
- Recognition in our monthly newsletter (over 600 subscribers), and on social media
- Verbal acknowledgment during sponsored events

Alternate sponsorship packages are available at the $750 (2 registrations, other select benefits, and a table), $500 (2 registrations and other select benefits); and $250 (1 registration and other select benefits) levels. You can also sponsor a keynote or luncheon, provide water stations to attendees, or help us with videography and repositing costs. Please inquire at digitalfrontiersconference@gmail.com for specific details. We're happy to work with you for a partnership that is meaningful for everyone concerned! You can view and purchase sponsorship options in the Digital Frontiers Store.
